The Evolution range of awnings represents a step up again in terms of quality for light weight awnings. The brief when designing these awnings was to construct a light weight awning with the quality, strength and feel of a traditional awning. The brand new feature of a zip in interior pole system makes these Evolution awnings incredibly quick and easy to erect along with extreme stability. The specification on the fabrics and poles represents a leap forward in terms of the quality of materials used. The alloy pole is of high grade aluminium and the fabric is a heavy quality 300 denier Oxford PU. The Evolution awnings are waterproofed to 5,000mm hydrostatic head, represented by the use of the REVTEX5000 fabric. The rear pad system is also new to the Outdoor Revolution range and makes for a much improved guard against the unpredictable weather.

2009 sees the introduction of the sand and petrol blue colour option as well as the option of the charcoal, stone and burgundy colour way. The feature list also includes heavy duty stability straps, zip up curtains, toughened roof fabric and increased ventilation with twin side mesh panels.

OUTDOOR REVOLUTION

is the name in the outdoor industry that everyone is talking about.

Our aim is to develop and bring to market some of the most innovative and durable products available to the outdoor enthusiast. Our entire range has been carefully selected and tested by seasoned campers and caravanners alike.

We are constantly trying new and innovative ideas, testing new fabrics and components to find the best grade materials to cope with the 'unique' British weather. When you purchase an Outdoor Revolution product, you can rest assured that a great deal of thought, testing and improving has been undertaken before the product has even been brought to market. Backed up with our excellent customer service, expert knowledge and strong dealer network we are sure that you will have every reason to be completely satisfied with your purchase.

At Outdoor Revolution, we don't see constructive criticism as anything other than feedback allowing us to continually develop and improve our range of products, thus ensuring your outdoor adventure is not compromised.
